Jason changes name to Fugro-Jason

Jason Geosystems has officially changed its operating name into Fugro-Jason. Fugro NV acquired Jason Geosystems BV in 2001. Fugro-Jason will remain an independent operating company in the Fugro tradition and a spearhead in the continued growth strategy to further strengthen the Fugro Geoscience position in the E&P industry.

Fugro-Jason will continue to offer technical leadership, superior quality and expert consultancy services in reservoir characterization, including the recently added petrophysical (PowerLog™) and reservoir modeling (FastTracker™) capabilities.

Fugro-Jason is the world's market leader in quantitative reservoir characterization. Our unique software technology successfully integrates engineering reality with sub-surface modeling. Jason software substantially improves the chance of penetrating a producible oil or gas reservoir by adding high value information.
